

SITUATION

WHAT WE KNOW

Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) is a disease caused by a respiratory virus and it has not caused illness in humans before. Symptoms include: fever, dry cough, and shortness of breath. This virus is easily communicable and spreads in a similar manner to the cold or flu – respiratory droplets, contaminated surfaces, and close contact.

This virus is affecting all of us and EMSI is committed to help keep your facility and personnel safe. Our Enviroexperts are trained and prepared to safely clean and decontaminate your potentially infected area, facility or location in accordance with CDC and OSHA requirements and recommendations and EPA regulation.

HOW WE CAN HELP

Our Enviroexpert Infectious Response Service includes:

- Conduct assessment and planning
- Donning of Proper personal protective equipment (PPE)
- Use of EPA approved disinfecting agents
- Cleaning and decontamination according to OSHA biosafety standards, EPA regulation, and CDC recommendation
- Safe handling and disposal of hazardous and infectious waste streams generated during disinfection

Sustainable Solutions At Your Disposal